AUGUST BELMONT'S THREE-YEAR-OLD FINELY RIDDEN BY MOUNTAI

king's Daughter, With 126 Pounds, Runs the Fastest Three-quarters of the Meeting-James R. Keene's Citizen Scores -Robin Hood Comes Home in a Gallop

Backers of favorites did not get much at Aqueduct yesterday, as four public choices suffered defeat. But at that all of the winners were pretty well supported, so that the books did not have an easy thing by any means. The weather was anything but pleasant, yet 10,000 persons turned out as

August Belmont's good three-year-old Okerite, at prohibitive odds, won the Sterling Stakes, weight for age, at a mile, without being extended. He was magnificently ridden by George Mountain, who is rapidly becoming a favorite with metropolitan race-goers. There were only three starters, and hen the start was effected Fred Burlew's Gild, 6 to 1, cut out the pace. Miller rushed Oxford, with 130 pounds, after him, but Mounain was satisfied to rate Okenite along behind with extreme patience. When Gild exploded at the head of the long stretch, Oxford went to the front, but in a jiffy Okenite losed on him with rapid strides, although s clever jockey did not overexert himsel any way. A furlong from home Mountain ook Mr. Belmont's horse into the lead, and per that he breezed to the wire, beating extord a length in 1:40. Gild was eight carrying 126 pounds, made all the pace in the handicap, at six furlongs, and won by two lengths in 1:13, the fastest race of the meeting. Sing's Daughter was rather liberally played at 7 to 2, which caused Jack Joyner's Cressina, the favorite, who ran second, to go back to 7 to 5. J. J. Walsh's Sir Edward, backed from 6 down to 3, was a poor third. Samson had carly speed, but stopped.

James R. Keene won the third race, for favo-year-olds, four and a half furlongs, with Citizen, a gelding by Voter-Elsie, who receded in the odds to 13 to 5, but under Miller's persuasion ran a bang up race and won by two lengths from E. R. Thomas's Biskra, backed from 3 to 2. Biskra made most of the running, but tired at the end, taking the place by a neck from the Oneck Stable's look, 10 to 1. Astoria Belle, 15 to 1, was close up. The race was run in 0:54 4-5.

Mr. Keene started another two-year-old, Transvaal, a coit by Commando-Royal Rose, in the last race for maidens, at four and a half furlongs, but he could not duplicate (titzen's triumph, for he was beaten a length by M. L. Hayman's Apple Toddy, 10 to 1, who was vigorously handled by Mountain. Transvaal went up in the betting to 5 to 1, but he managed to beat the Oneck Stable's Bellwether, played from 15 down to 4, by half a length. L. A. Cella's Bridge Whist, backed down to 7 to 2, was badly beaten, while Fred Burlew's Royal Vane, a lukewarm favorite, was two lengths out of the money. The time was 0:55.

A poor start in the fifth race, for platers, at a mile, virtually killed the chances of L. A cella's Marathon, 7 to 10 favorite, as he was the last to leave the post. He made up a tot of ground in the homestretch, but F. T. Wood's Lady Alicia, backed from 15 down to 7, had so great an early advantage in the way of pace making that she finished three lengths in front of Cella's colt, in 1:41 4-5. Foxmead, 7 to 2, was four lengths away.

J. P. Mayberry put old Robin Hood over the plate in the first race, for platers, at six furlongs. The Kingston gelding was backed down to

HELMRICH INELIGIBLE.

Midyear Examinations Put Him Out o Columbia Varsity Boat.

was announced yesterday that G. L. Helmrich who has been rowing at 7 on the Columbia varsity crew had been declared ineligible on account of conditions and would not be able to row. The announcement came as a severe blow to the crew of which telmrich was one of the most valuable memhers. He was one of the most valuable members. He was on the freshman crew two years ago and last year was selected for the varsity on which he rowed at Poughkeepsie. This year he was placed in his position in the first boat early in the season and has not been shifted since. His weight is about 180 pounds and he has been quick in mastering the Rice stroke.

TWO WINNERS FOR SMITHSON. El Dorado and Azelina Successful at Pimlico.

Sixth Race-For

furiongs: C. H. Shilling. Sweet Taire

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28 .- Overnight rains made the Pimlico track in a sloppy condition to-day and the talent found it hard to pick winners. Outsiders won four of the seven events. Two of the winning favorites were furnished by C. C. Smithson, who won heavily on the victories of El Dorado and Azelina. El Dorado was played down from 8 to 5 to 1 to 2 in the opening event, at six furlongs. He was easily the best, winning all the way. Smithson put his second winner, Azelina, over the plate in the sixth race, which was also a six furlong event. Azelina looked to be beaten until the last sixteenth, where Lloyd went to work and brought her home by a length in front of Parkville. Sum-

WRENN AND LARNED WIN. Final Match in Round Robin Doubles Goes

to Veteran Tennis Players. There was only one match in the round robin doubles at the St. Nicholas Rink yesterday. That, however, was well worth seeing.
A. L. Hoskins of the executive committee, who was able to get up from Philadelphia, said that it was about as good a tennis match as he had seen recently. William A. Larned and George L. Wrenn, Jr., defeated Karl H. Behr, Jr., and Raymond D. Little in the final as he had seen recently. William A. Larned and George L. Wrenn, Jr., defeated Karl H. Behr, Jr., and Raymond D. Little in the final match of the doubles, thereby taking the first honors with a clean score of three victories. The defeat put the Behr-Little combination in second place.

Larned's fine work in volleys from the line of the service court to the net was as good an exhibition of this valuable feature of doubles play as could be wished for. Wrenn played a very capable all round game and had little trouble in getting the returns down the alleys, which counted for much. For a man whose practice is as limited as is Wrenn's his showing was all the more remarkable.

The characteristic comment on Ray Little's play was, "Oh. Isn't it too bad he can't go abroad?" Little was very effective on almost all sides. Behr showed some improvement over other days, but still is very far from being a doubles player. Three sets were needed to decide the match.

The other match that was to have been played was between T. R. Pell and E. W. Leonard against the Wrights. Beal Wright wanted to go to Boston and the match was called off for the time being.

Miss May Sutton was at the rink looking on. She said that she planned to sail on May 17 for England to play there in the tournaments at Liverpool, Wimbledon and Newport. She was told that Mrs. Chambers, formerly Miss D. K. Douglass, very likely would not play this season. "That's too bad," she said, "if it is true. I would like to meet her again. You know it's match all between us at Wimbledon and I'd like to meet her again, You know it's match all between us at Wimbledon and I'd like to meet her again, so over there and be beaten by some one else, even if Mrs. Chambers doesn't play."

Miss Sutton plays a practice match this morning against 'Theodore R. Pell. It is likely that she will receive a handicap. She played a match in England against the redoubtable S. H. Smith, who is known as the hardest driver on the British courts. She beat him in straight sets, receiving a comforta

YALE CHANGES STROKE OAR. Griswold, a New Man, Supplants Boulton,

Stroke of Two Varsity Crews. NEW HAVEN, April 23.-The first change in the Yale varsity shell for several weeks was made to-day by Coach Kennedy and Capt. Ide in preparation for the Annapolis race on May 4, when Stroke Boulton, who has stroked two varsity crews at New London, was replaced by Griswold, a new man in the boat. placed by Griswold, a new man in the boat. Griswold, an ever man in the boat carly in the season and has not been shifted since. His weight is about 180 pounds and he has been quick in mastering the Rice stroke. His place at 7 was taken yesterday by headle who was moved up from the second boat. Cheadle has about the same weight as Helmrich, but has never been considered so good an oarsman. Helmrich's conditions came as a result of the midyear examinations in one of which he failed.

It is understood among Yale boating men here that the two men, Boulton and Griswold, are pretty evenly matched for the position as stroke, but that in a short race such as Yale will row against the Middles Griswold apparently is a little in the lead. In the rowing phraseology he has the snap, while Boulton has the rythm. Griswold can be relied upon to better push up the stroke in a short row than can Boulton, who, however, is not rowed as a service in the second might he out for some time. Mitchell was attacked was taken by 7. Norris. The boating of the crews now is as follows:

very little noticeable difference in the speed of the boat as rowed to-day. The change, however, is not regarded here as necessarily permanent Boulton being liable to regain his old place in the boat between now and the time that the final makeup of the crew is decided upon for the Yale-Harvard race.

JOCKEY CLUB STEWARDS ISSUE A LICENSE TO JACK MARTIN.

The Burns Brothers, Guy and Wille, and Booker Also Permitted to Ride Again -Keene Two-Year-Olds Worthy of Support-A Killing With Lady Allela.

The stewards of the Jockey Club held a meeting yesterday morning and decided to allow Jack Martin to ride again on the metropolitan tracks. Tommy Burns's younger brothers, Guy and Willie, who are under contract to Father Bill Daly, were also placed in good standing. Martin is under contract o Frank J. Farrell and will do most of the riding for the hig stable trained by Frank D. He will have the mount on Dr. Gardner in the Excelsior Handicap and will also Roseben in the Metropolitan. steward of the Jockey Club, after the news that Martin 1 ad been reinstated was made public, said: "After making a thorough investigation of Martin's suspension at the Fair Grounds. New Orleans, we and that there is no evience of wrongdoing on his part and that he left New Orleans in good standing. It would be a injustice to deprive a jockey of a means of livelihood without having sufficient proof of guilt. Martin has caused some unfavorable comment in the past, but until he actually does something that is not right there is no reason why he should not ride again on the Eastern turf."

With Martin in the saddle, the horses owned, by Farrell, Sullivan and Johnson will continue to attract the support of the public in all of their races. Martin, because of the delay in getting a license, has probably learned a lesson. It is the first time in his career that he has been in serious trouble and it may be said that he has felt his position keenly. He is one of the best jockeys in this country when he wants to ride, and in the future it will be to his interests to shun evil companions and always do his level best. Burns boys did not get licenses before because there was a dispute between Daly and R. Boyle. Guy Burns is a very promising lightweight and will have plenty of engagenents.

The stewards also granted a license to Jockey Charles Booker, whose case has been hanging fire for some time; also to Jockeys Dugan, Diggins, Lloyd, A. Martin, Mitchell, . Williams and other riders. A number of trainers were licensed also, including M. J. Daly. August Belmont, James R. Keene and H. P. Whitney were appointed stewards for the Belmont Park meeting, while Andrew Miller was selected to represent the Jockey Club in the stewards' stand at Gravesend. T. C. McDowell won a nice bet on his mare King's Daughter, by Ornament-Queenlike il., when she ran off with the handicap at six furlongs. He told his friends that the mare was in splendid condition and that it was only a question as to whether she could handle the weight. She gave ten pounds where Lioyd went to work and brought her home by a length in front of Parkville. Summaries:

15. J. J. Walsh's Henry Kelly, a colt by Yellowtail, was backed from 50 to 30. Acreedor, a colt by Col. Wheeler, was lowered from 50 to 20. Bob Tucker's Silver Cup, a filly by Alan-a-Dale, was another tip. Fred Burlew's Cuernavaca, the Oneck Stable's Look and Jack Bennet's Raimondo, were also on the tip of the tongue.

When Citizen won, many persons were heard to remark that it was poor judgment not to support the Keene two-year-old, a all of them are well bred and usually go tos the post fit. Incidentally most of them are ridden by Miller, upon whose services Mr. Keene has second call. In spite of the senti-ment favoring the Keene Stable, however, Transvaal was neglected in the last race, and while he was beaten by Apple Toddy t was said afterward that had it not been for the fact that he was green at the post he would probably have won. As it was he was closing rapidly at the end. The success of Apple Tod dy was a distinct surprise to his trainer. Roger Minton, who said before the colt left the paddock that he was as green as grass and had not shown much in his work. It is doubtful if the Haymans bet at all on the son of Toddington, thereby losing a chance to effect a sensational coup. The play on the Oneck Stable's fine looking colt Bellwether in this race caused a panic in the ring. He was at 15 to 1 when the money made its appearance in chunks. By the time he reached the post he had been backed down to 3 to 1. This remarkable support was due to the fact that Bellwether had worked a furlong in the morning in 11 seconds flat. In previous races he had shown a tendency to run out, but Trainer Karrick believed that he had cured the colt of this habit. Bellwether hugged the rail all the way, but seemed to be short. Because of a fast half mile trial, Royal Vane, a colt by Royal Flush III.-Flavane, owned by Fred Burlew, was the medium for the smart play in this race, but he did not run up to his work. Louis Cella contributed two lemons for the public in Bridge Whist, who was a badly defeated second choice in the same race, and Marathon, a heavily backed 7 to 10 favorite in the fifth. Trainer McDaniel, who is in charge of Cella's stable, said that Marathon, who ran in H. P. Whitney's colors last year, was a cinch. that reason the big operators grabbed any old price, but they got nothing for their energy. F. T. Wood put over something of a killing with Lady Alicia in this race, as the Sir Dixon filly was played from 15 down to 7, her supporters playing her across the boards. A round of the bookmakers during the speculation on the Sterling Stakes developed the fact that few of them would take a hundred dollar note on Okenite at 2 to 5. This looked to be a sure thing, and the plungers who tried to bet thousands found that it was a decidedly difficult game. It was just as hard to get down place wagers on Oxford at 1 to 2, but the books were ready to accept straight bets on the gray horse, and also place bets at even money on Gild. Roseben won the Sterling Stakes last year from Ram's Horn. The Big Train ran the mile in 1:50 1-4, Okenite beating this time by a fifth of a

It is seldom the case that a horse owned by a Jockey Club steward is bid up after winning a selling race, but when Citizen, in the Keene colors, came home and was offered at auction for $700 a man who gave his name as McElroy, who evidently wanted a good two-year-old cheap, proceeded to bid the son of Voter up to $1,000, when Trainer Rowe bid an extra $5 and Citizen went back to the Keene barn.

EASTERN LEAGUE OPENING. Games Will Be Played in Two Cities To-day and in Two More To-morrow. The Eastern League, which ranks just be low the major leagues in importance and strength, will begin its championship season to-day. Four of the baseball teams will get under way this afternoon, and the remaining four will begin to-morrow. To-day Toronto plays in Rochester and Montreal in Buffalo, while to-morrow Jersey City opens in Providence and Baltimore in Newark, thus making the Eastern League opening a two day affair President P. T. Powers has assigned his umpires for the openings as follows: Cusack Rochester, Owens in Buffalo, Conway in Providence, Kelly in Newark. The two reserve'um ires, Rorty and Hoffner, will prob ably help out Kelly and Conway respectively Powers's umpire staff for this year is new with the exception of Kelly.

The present season is the sixteenth for the Eastern League, which therefore is a veteran in the ranks. In Class A, the top notch class of the minor organizations, the Eastern League considers itself the major organization of the minor leagues. The quality of ball in the Eastern is excellent, and with cities composing its circ uit of a size to make it of a desirable degree of uniformity in population, it also has its playing strength nicely distributed.

There have been some close and exciting races in the Eastern League in the last few seasons—the championship being in doubt until within a short time of the finish—and the Eastern Leaguers make just as elaborate preparations for the campaign as the American or National league. They send their players on training trips and do as much planning and careful handling as in the majors.

planning and careful handling as in the majors.

It is a big population that the attendance of the Eastern League is drawn from. Within a ten mile radius of the eight fields is a population of more than 4,000,000, making it the most populous of any of the minor bodies. The 4,000,000 actual and tributary population of the circuit is apportioned as follows: Baltimore, 700,000. Newark, 600,000; Jersey City, 520,000; Buffalo, 475,000; Toronto, 425,000. Providence, 400,000; Montreal, 450,000; Rochester, 830,000.

President Powers thinks the teams of his league are better fortified as a whole for a close race than ever before, the weaker clubs having been strengthened so as to make them more formidable contenders. Managerial changes add to the interest of the situation. George Stallings has retired from the management in Buffalo and in his place is Lew McAllister, giving Buffalo a player-manager and one of the best all around ball performers in the country. McAllister can pitch, catch and play every other position. Billy Murray has gone from Jersey City to the Philadelphia Nationals, his successor being Joe Bean, the veteran shortstop, so that Jersey City too comes under the regime of a player-manager.

Joe Kelley, the former National Lwague

being Joe Bean, the Veteran anotatop, so that Jersey City too comes under the regime of a player-manager.

Joe Kelley, the former National Lwague star of Baltimore, Brooklyn and Cincinnati, now holds the managerial reins in Toronto, and is expected to put new life into the team of the Canadian city. In Montreal Malachi Kittredge, the crack backstop of many years in the big leagues, is the manager, a beth which he took up too late last year to show results. Hugh Jennings has gone from Baltimore to Detroit to manage, and his shoewill be filled by the former National League player, Jack Dunn, who piloted Providence to the pennant year before last. Providence has a new manager in Hugh Duffy, who managed the Quakers last year and was a star in his day in the National League. The other managers, Buckenberger of Rochester and Burnham of Newark, have served in that capacity for several seasons. capacity for several seasons

HARVARD'S BASEBALL TEAM Returns From Southern Trip With Nine Practically Made Up.

CAMBRIDGE, April 23 .- The Harvard baseball team returned from its Southern trip in good shape and considerably improved by the practice. The makeup of the team is now practically decided on with the exception of right field, for which Waters, Ware and Dana are all possibilities. Briggs has made Dana are all possibilities. Briggs has made good at first base, and seems almost certain to hold down that position, while Harvey's splendid hitting at Annapolis and West Point has practically assured him of centre field.

As the team has been and seems likely to continue to play, it is made up of Briggs, first base; McCall, second; Simons, short; Leonard, third; Currier, catcher; Dexter, left field; Harvey, centre field; Waters, right field, with the pitching position resting probably between Hartford, Slater and Freene.

The baseball training table has been started at the Harvard Union with the following men: Briggs, Currier, Dexter, Hartford, Harvey, Howe, Leonard, McCall and Simons.

Baseball Notes.

So far Si Seymour has buffeted the bulb for six ngles, three two baggers, two triples and one singles, the Bresnahan is doing fine work behind the plate for the New York Nationals—the sort that he did in the world's series against the Athletics.

Frank Burke, released by the New Yorks to e Bostons, signalized his first appearance as Tenneylte by swatting for a single. The first triple play of the season came to light in the Virginia League. It was made by Martin, Butman and Burns of the Richmond team. Sam Mertes has finally found a sanctuary in Minneapolis. He will play left field for the team the Flour City

Par Handicap System Spreads - New Record at Siwanoy.

A. S. Brinckerhoff, secretary of the Central New York Golf League, has informed Secretary Calkins that they have adopted the Metropolitan Golf Association handicap system. There are eight clubs in the Central New York League, and in their annual handicap entries will be received only when accompanied by the ratings based on the par system. The basis of handicapping on par is now accepted by the Connecticut and New Jersey leagues. Western Golf Association, Philadelphia Golf Association and both the Western and Eastern Women's Golf associations. The Massachusetts Golf Association is about the only one not in line. Ralph Cracknell gives so much personal attention to the ratings that, although based on scratch and not par, the general result in Massachusetts is very good. Aside from ignoring the par, Cracknell's plan brings out close ratings, although it is decidedly old

FERGUSON'S SECOND VICTORY

NEW YORKS BEAT THE BOSTONS FOR THE FOURTH TIME.

Liberal Stick Work by Both Sides at the Hub -Cubs Squeeze Out a Victory and Pittsburgs Outscore the Cardinals -National League Race Becomes Scattering

The inability of anybody to head off the Chicagos and the frequency with which the second division teams are losing are making the National League race take on a most scattering aspect. The New Yorks beat the Bostons again yesterday and are holding their own, but the Cincinnatis dropped another game to the Cubs. Ferguson pitched for the New Yorks and won his second victory. The Pittsburgs, who can win now that they are not tackling the Chicagos, beat the Cardinals. There is a pronounced gap between the clubs of the first division and those of the second. Boston, Mass., April 23.—New York made it four straight from Boston this afternoon, the locals narrowly escaping another shutout. Up to the eighth inning it was a case of goose eggs for the locals, but in that inning Ferguson weakened and Bates led off with a double. He went to third on Tenney's out and scored on a triple by Beaumont. Howard was hit by a pitched ball and Bridwell flied to Corcoran, but Beaumont stuck to third base. Ritchey drew a pass, filling the bases, but Brain could do no better than fly to Strang. In the ninth another run was scored by the Beaneaters through a pass to Burke, who batted for Orndorff, and singles by Bates and Beaumont.

Young kept the hits widely separated until the sixth inning, when, with one down, Devlin hit safely and stole second. He scored on Breenahan's single. The latter was out trying to make second on the throw home. Another run came in the seventh when Dahlen scratched a hit and reached second on Bridwell's poor throw to Tenney. GEORGE GOULD'S PONIES SOLD.

POLO PLAYERS LOOKING FOR MOUNTS FAIL TO GET BARGAINS.

seventeen Head Bring $8,650, an Average of $503-Larry Waterbury Secures Three of the Best-Big Gathering of Enthusiasts-Small Price for Arabs.

The polo ponies of George J. Gould were lisposed of at auction at the American Horse Exchange last night. They were sold because for a time Mr. Gould and his sons have given up the sport. The ponies are known by all polo players and consequently there was a large gathering of horsemen ready to bid for the cracks of the collection. If they had expected to pick up ponies at bargain counter prices they must have been disappointed for the seventeen head brought a total of $8,650, an average of a trifle over $500, which is good.

Francis M. Ware was the auctioneer, and he took particular pains to let every one know that this was one rare chance to pick up seasoned ponies. He did not have to coax much for bids. The men present knew what they were bidding on and the competitions for some of the best of the stable were keen. Among those present were Robert L. Gerry, J. E. Cowdin, H. L. Herbert, Larry Water-bury, E. L. Blabon, Asa Soule, J. Coogin, bury, E. L. Blabon, Asa Soule, J. Coogin, E. H. Wetherbee, W. Goadby Loew, P. A. Hart, E. C. Potter, A. L. Schwartz, Victor E. Miller, M. D. Baldwin, Sidney C. Love, C. Randolph Snowden, Charles Frick and J. R. Grace

The highest price paid was $875 for Dilly, a bay geloing that was declared to be speedy, clever and a real good pony. T. J. Ryan, who acted as an agent, secured this pony after a hot fight with Larry Waterbury. Larry Waterbury secured Independence for $850 and tried hard for Newport, but W. G. Loew outbid him by $25, the pony selling for $825. Charles Frick of Fittsburg bought Edith, a chestnut mare, for $725. E. L. Blabon stood sponsor for Lulu, $325, and Cotton for $625, but it was said he was acting for C. Randolph Snowden of the Bryn Mawr club.

After the polo ponies had been disposed of five Arabian ponies, consigned by J. A. P. Ramsdell of the Arab Stud Farm, Newburgh, were sold. These ponies were all sired by imported Garaveen and were really a fine looking lot. They were broken to saddle and harness, but Arabs did not seem to please the sales:

MAINTENON WINTERED WELL. W. K. Vanderbilt's French Champion Wins Prix des Sablons, His First Race This Year. W. K. Vanderbilt's Maintenon, the biggest winner on the French turf last year, was pulled out a little more than a week ago for his first public gallop in the Prix des Sablons, and as it was the first appearance this season his work was closely watched by the critics. That he had wintered well was the verdict, and his only seeming fault was that he looked to be a triffe on the big side. Evidently Duke had left something to work on later and rumor had it that he intended to give the big racer a little more work in public last week.

In this race for the Prix des Sablons Mainenon got away well from the barrier and made the whole of the running. On the homestretch Ganelon II. drew up to him, and for a moment it looked as if he was going to make a race of it with the champion. Bellhouse, who had the mount on Maintenon, did not have to touch him and when he urged a little with the hands the big horse strode out in the style which earned him such fame last year and he held the challenger entirely at bay. Maintenon is to be sent to England for the Maintenon is to be sent to England for the Ascot Gold Cup and should he maintain his form the race should be a gift for him. But Duke has one thing to fear in England with the Vanderbilt horse, and that is a dry season. A long spell of dry weather makes Ascot Heath as hard as a brick, and sten going would be the worse for a big animal like Maintenon. Speaking of the race the special expert from Sporting Life alludes to the form of Maintenon from a purely critical standpoint thus:

"The race won by Maintenon excited more inferest than any race run so far this year. Every one was anxious to know how Mr. Vanderbilt's crack had wintered and there were many people who, remembering the blot thrown on his escutcheon in the Grand Prix de Paris, prophesied that his four-year-old career would be a disappointment. He did all that was asked of him, however, in the Prix des Sablons, although that 'all' may not have been much. To beat Ganelon II. by a length does not make him out a wonder, for it can be recalled how badly Ganalon II. ran in the Cambridgeshire, when he was beaten a long way by Malua at even weights. Still, even a Gladiateur could do no more than win, and I am of opinion that Maintenon will prove himself the good horse that many of his performances last year indicate.

"It is curious to note that whenever the Maintenon will prove himself the good horse that many of his performances last year indicate.

"It is curious to note that whenever the name of this horse is mentioned reference is invariably made to his running in the Grand Prix. It is not the mere fact that he was defeated by Spearmint which astounds us but to finish behind Briseceur, Storm and Monthieu seems inexplicable, and were I to repeat one-half of the stories that are told about this defeat I might render myself and the paper I am connected with liable to any number of legal complications. Maintenon is an enormously big horse. As a two-year-old he was never properly trained, and although it was currently reported that his stable companion, Prestige, could give him twenty-one pounds and lose him, no reliable trial ever took place between the two colts, for Duke never had the second hope of his stable thoroughly wound up until he ran for the Prix Hocquart a year ago.

"In that race he first revealed his excellence when he beat over a score of three-year-olds in the easiest fashion. When Prestige gave way in training Duke was able to devote himself to Maintenon's preparation and the horse won the French Derby so easily that if became evident he had a phenomenal colt to take the place of the one that was popularly supposed to have been the best horse foaled in France since Gladiateur. After the Grand Prix flasco Maintenon won eight races in succession, winding up his three-year-old career by his impres-
